Government Purchasing Card Reconciliation Guide

How the Charge Appears, and What to File

This course is an online, self-paced professional training product. Enrollment is processed through Teachable, the platform hosting the course, which is the merchant of record for the transaction. Use this guide to reconcile the charge and build your purchase file — and read the first two sections before you buy, because the merchant name on your statement will not be The Wolverine Group.

WHAT THIS GUIDE CONTAINS

- How the charge appears on your statement, and the four things it carries
- Why the merchant name differs from the vendor name, and what that means for your file
- The emailed receipt, and why it is the document that closes your reconciliation
- What to confirm with your approving official before you buy
- How to request a W-9, a formal invoice, or a purchase order instead
- Cancellation terms

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

- Read the first two sections before purchase, not after. Reversing a purchase-card transaction is harder than routing it correctly the first time.
- Attach the emailed receipt to your reconciliation. The statement line alone will not tie the charge to the vendor.
- If your card program requires the statement merchant to match the vendor in your purchase file, use the purchase order path in Section 5 instead of the card.

1 • How the charge appears on your statement

The charge posts as a single Level 1 (L1) transaction. Your card statement and P-card system will show the merchant name, transaction amount, transaction date, and a statement descriptor — and nothing beyond that.

It will not carry a purchase order or requisition number, a separate tax line (Level 2), or itemized line-item or commodity-code detail (Level 3). The platform transmits Level 1 data only, so no PO reference or line-item breakout is available on the statement line itself.

WHAT APPEARS ON THE CHARGE LINE

Merchant / descriptor: TEACHABLE

Vendor of record for your purchase file: The Wolverine Group, Inc. | UEI VK81K1DMC6L5 | CAGE 6BUU5

Merchant category code: 8299 — Schools and Educational Services (Not Elsewhere Classified). Confirmed by the platform on 1 September 2026. If your card program restricts purchases by merchant category, verify this code against your program guidance before purchase.

Data level transmitted: Level 1 only — no PO number, no tax line, no line-item detail.

2 • Why the merchant name differs from the vendor name

The merchant name on your statement is the entity that processed the payment, not necessarily the entity that provided the product. Course enrollment is sold through Teachable, an online course platform. Teachable is the merchant of record, and its name appears on the charge line. The Wolverine Group, Inc. is the vendor providing the training.

This is ordinary for platform-delivered digital products, and your card program almost certainly already carries charges of this kind. It does mean two things for your file:

Your itemized receipt is what ties the statement line to the vendor. Attach it. It names The Wolverine Group, the course, the amount, the date, and the transaction ID.

If your card program requires the statement merchant to match the vendor in the purchase file, do not use the card. Request an invoice and pay by purchase order instead — contact support@wolverine-group.com before purchase, and we will issue a W-9 and a formal invoice in The Wolverine Group's name.

3 • Keep your emailed receipt — it is your reconciliation record

An itemized receipt is automatically emailed at the time of purchase. Retain it. Because the statement line carries the platform's name rather than the vendor's, this receipt is the document that connects the charge to The Wolverine Group. It carries the product name, amount, date, transaction ID, and vendor. Do not close your reconciliation without it.

HOW TO USE THE RECEIPT

Save the emailed receipt to your purchase file the day the charge is made.

Attach it to your P-card reconciliation as the itemized backup for the Level 1 statement line.

For most card programs, an itemized emailed receipt satisfies the reconciliation and audit-file requirement even when the statement line is Level 1 — but confirm this against your own agency policy, below.

4 • Confirm your agency P-card policy

Reconciliation and documentation requirements vary by agency and card program. Confirm two things with your approving official before you buy: whether an itemized emailed receipt satisfies your file requirement, and whether your program permits a statement merchant name that differs from the vendor name. If either answer is no, request an invoice and pay by purchase order using the contact below. Ask before the charge posts, not after — reversing a purchase-card transaction is harder than routing it correctly the first time.

5 • If you need a purchase order, W-9, or formal invoice

The Wolverine Group can provide a W-9, issue a formal invoice, or accept a purchase order for buyers whose card program requires it. Request any of these before purchase by contacting support@wolverine-group.com.

Access is provisioned on receipt of a signed purchase order. Standard terms are net 30 from invoice date. Access runs for twelve months from the date access is granted, or ninety days past the release of Module 5, whichever is later — not from the date the purchase order is issued.

6 • If you need to cancel

Enrollment may be cancelled for a full refund within 72 hours of purchase, provided no course content has been accessed — no videos viewed, no materials downloaded, and no modules opened beyond the free preview. To cancel, email support@wolverine-group.com from the address associated with your account and include your order number. Once any course content is accessed, all sales are final.
